

Big generic companies are bad for the media, for people, and for our quality of life in maintaining a democracy. The best solution is to have a wide variety of voices in America.